West Paris tax bills out

West Paris tax bills were sent out last Friday and should have been received by local residents on Saturday or early this week.

The tax rate this year is $21.45 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, compared to $22.50 last year.

The town will raise $254,172 through taxation.

Valuation this year is $11,849,517, up about $300,000 over last year.

The money raised through taxes, combined with $46,419 expected from state revenue sharing, will fund the following budgets:

•Municipal appropriations (aside from those paid for by federal revenue sharing)—$135,759;

•SAD #17 appropriations—$141,698;

•Overlay—$11,734.

Total town outlays, aside from those paid for by federal revenue sharing, come to $300,591.

Because of Independence Day, the town office will be closed July 4 and 5, and the Board of Selectmen will not meet this week. They will meet next Thursday at the usual time.

Gem show July 6 and 7 at County Fairgrounds

Oxford County Mineral and Gem Association's 24th Annual Western Maine Gem and Mineral Festival will be held at the Oxford County Fairgrounds on Saturday, July 6 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, July 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The fairgrounds are located southerly of Norway, just off Route 26.

The main attraction this year will be the special exhibit of "The Maine Tourmaline Necklace," which is on loan from the Maine State Museum. Club members and dealers will have various mineral exhibits including one of just Oxford County minerals.

Among the various demonstrations going on during the two days, will be a working goldsmith's bench set up by Addison Saunders of Ellsworth, the creator of the Maine Tourmaline Necklace. Mr. Saunders is formerly of Bethel. It is also expected that Glendon Cate of Dixfield

NICE DAY FOR A BIKE RIDE: Despite the rain last Friday, over 100 bicyclists from all over the state pedaled off from Telstar Regional High School on a three-day bike trek across Maine, to Bar Harbor. The Maine Lung Association organized the trek, and association officials said $40,000 to $50,000 was pledged to the riders by sponsors. Entrants ranged in age from 20 to 60. Bethel's lone entry was Gordon Gillies.

will be demonstrating the art of faceting. Regular features of the Mineral and Gem Association's festivals include the fluorescent booth, the touch table of larger specimens, special swapping area set up outside the hall, door prizes, and "eats," catered by the Rumford Grange. Ample parking at no charge plus free camping on grounds for those with trailers, but no hookups are available. Field trips to two locations have been planned. Saturday's trip will be to the Tamminen Mine, Greenwood, leaving the grounds at 9 a.m. On Sunday the trip will be to Mt. Mica, Paris Hill, leaving the grounds at 10 a.m.

Mollyockett Day festivities coming up

In preparing for this year's Mollyockett Day, scheduled for Saturday, July 20, the Bethel Lions Club has had a great deal of assistance from the Bethel Rotary Club, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, Bethel Area Health Center, Bethel Fire Department, Bethel Inn, Sunday River Skiway, Bethel Outing Club, and the Bethel Town Office.

This year's activities will provide a day full of events. Starting at 8:30 in the morning are the Bethel Outing Club's 1-mile, 5-kilometer and 10-kilometer foot races.

Following the races is the Mollyockett Day parade. The theme this year is "Modes of Transportation," which should give participants a wide choice of selection for their floats. Time of the parade is 11 a.m.

Serving will begin at the annual Rotary Club chicken dinner and fried clam cookout at 11:30 a.m., and last until 6 p.m., on the Common.

At 12 noon, Princess Mollyockett will award prizes for winning floats at the Lions booth. This will be followed by the Bethel Area Health Center's Oxford County Frog Jumping Contest, at 1 p.m. Also starting at 1 p.m. will be the Professional Lumberjack Competition, sponsored by the Bethel Rotary Club.

Throughout the afternoon and into the early evening, there will be booths and arts and crafts open on the Common.

In the late afternoon, the Mollyockett Mixers will give a square dance exhibition, followed by the Old Time Fiddlers Contest, at 6:30 p.m. This event is sponsored by the Bethel Lions Club and Sunday River Skiway.

NTL starts second week

The NTL community this week is smaller than last because fewer programs are scheduled in the holiday week. Only one new program started on Monday, the Workshop in Self-Differentiation, which lasts until July 12.

The Sunrise Seminars for this week are, as always, open to interested persons from the Bethel area. These informal sessions, held from 7:30 a.m. to 8:15 a.m. on most weekdays, take place in the Maine Room, in the Annex behind the NTL Conference House on Broad Street.

Earlier this week, presentations were made by staff members Morley Segal, Dick Deane with Larry Richard, and John Weir. For the remainder of the week, the schedule will be as follows: •Thursday, July 4, Jonno Hanafin: "Celebration Technology;" •Friday, July 5, Larry Richard: "Perry Mason and the O.D. Dilemma."

There will be no Saturday seminar this week. A new series of Sunrise Seminars will start Tuesday, July 9.

PUBLISHED ON TUESDAY

Faced with a printing time 24 hours earlier than usual because of Independence Day, The Citizen was published on Tuesday this week. Not being aware of the earlier time until Wednesday morning of last week, it was impossible to include an appropriate notice in the June 26 edition for the convenience of contributors. Apologies are extended for any inconvenience and for the omission of any regular features.

Fourth of July oration

[Daniel Webster (1782-1851) was Secretary of State of the United States when he delivered this speech on July 4, 1851, at the laying of the cornerstone for an addition to the Capitol building in Washington.]

Fellow-citizens — I greet you well; I give you joy, on the return of this anniversary; and felicitate you, also, on the more particular purpose of which this ever-memorable day has been chosen to witness the fulfillment.

This is that day of the year which announced to mankind the great fact of American Independence. This fresh and brilliant morning blesses our vision with another beholding of the birthday of our nation; and we see that nation, of recent origin, now among the most considerable and powerful, and spreading over the continent from sea to sea.

Among the first colonists from Europe to this part of America, there were some, doubtless, who contemplated the distant consequences of their undertaking, and a great futurity. But, in general, their hopes were limited to the enjoyment of a safe asylum from tyranny, religious and civil, and to respectable subsistence, by industry and toil. A thick veil hid our times from their view. But the progress of America, however slow, could not but at length awaken genius, and attract the attention of mankind.

In the early part of the second century of our history, Bishop Berkeley wrote his well-known "Verses on the Prospect of Planting Arts and Learning in America." The last stanza of this little poem seems to have been produced by the highest poetical inspiration:—

"Westward the course of empire takes its way;

The four first acts already past,

A fifth shall close the drama with the day:

Time's noblest offspring is the last."

This extraordinary prophecy may be considered only as the result of long foresight and uncommon sagacity; of a foresight and sagacity stimulated, nevertheless, by excited feeling and high enthusiasm. So clear a vision of what America would become was not founded on square miles, or in existing numbers, or on any common laws of statistics. It was an intuitive glance into futurity; it was a grand contraption, strong, ardent, glowing, embracing all time since the creation of the world, and all regions of which that world is composed, and judging of the future by just analogy with the past.

Fellow-citizens, this inheritance which we enjoy today is not only an inheritance of liberty, but of our own peculiar American liberty. Liberty has existed in other times, in other countries, and in other forms. There has been a Grecian Liberty, bold and powerful, full of spirit, eloquence, and fire; a liberty which produced multitudes of great men. But still it was a liberty of disconnected states, sometimes united, indeed, by temporary leagues and confederacies, but often involved in wars between themselves.

And there has also been a Roman liberty, a proud, ambitious, domineering spirit, professing free and popular principles in Rome itself, but, even in the best days of the republic, ready to carry slavery and chains into her provinces, and through every country over which her eagles could be borne.

I have said, gentlemen, that our inheritance is an inheritance of American liberty. That liberty is characteristic, peculiar, and altogether our own. Nothing like it existed in former times, nor was known in the most enlightened states of antiquity; while with us its principles have become interwoven in the minds of individual men, connected with our daily opinions, and our daily habits, until it is, if I may so say, an element of social as well as political life. And the consequence is, that to whatever region an American citizen carries himself, he takes with him, fully developed in his own understanding and experience, our American principles and opinions, and becomes ready at once, in co-operation with others, to apply them to the formation of new governments.

For the period which has elapsed from the day that Washington laid the foundation of this Capitol to the present time, there has been no country upon earth in which liberty and property have been more amply and steadily secured, or more freely enjoyed, than in these United States of America. Who is there that will deny this? Who is there prepared with a greater or a better example? Who is there that can stand upon the foundation of facts, acknowledged or proved, and assert that these our republican institutions have not answered the true ends of government beyond all precedent in human history?

There is yet another view. There are still higher considerations. Man is an intellectual being, destined to immortality. There is a spirit in him, and the breath of the Almighty hath given him understanding. Then only is he tending toward his own destiny, while he seeks for knowledge and virtue, for the will of his Maker, and for just conceptions of his duty. Of all important questions, therefore, let this, the most important of all, be first asked and first answered: In what country of the habitable globe, of great extent and large population, are the means of knowledge the most generally diffused and enjoyed among the people? This question admits of one, and only one, answer. It is here.

But there is something more than this. Man is not only an intellectual, but he is also a religious being, and his religious feelings and habits require cultivation. Let the religious element in man's nature be neglected, let him be influenced by no higher motives than low self-interest, and subject to no stronger restraint than the limit of civil authority, and he becomes the creature of selfish passion or blind fanaticism.

Who does not admit that this unparalleled growth in prosperity and renown is the result, under Providence, of the union of these States under a general Constitution, which guarantees to each State a republican form of government, and to every man the enjoyment of life, and the pursuit of happiness, free from civil tyranny or ecclesiastical domination?

Fellow-citizens, we must be tolerant to folly, and patient at the sight of the extreme waywardness of man; but I confess that, when I reflect on the renown of our past history, on our present prosperity, and greatness, and on what the future hath yet to unfold, and when I see that there are men who can find in all this nothing good, nothing valuable, nothing truly glorious, I feel that all their reason has fled away from them, and left the entire control over their judgment and their actions to insanity and fanaticism; and more than all, fellow-citizens, if the purpose of fanatics and disunionists should be accomplished, the patriotic and intelligent of our generation would seek to hide ourselves from the scorn of the world, and go about to find dishonorable graves.

Fellow-citizens, take courage; be of good cheer. We shall come to no such ignoble end. We shall live, and not die. During the period allotted to our several lives, we shall continue to rejoice in the return of this anniversary. The ill-omened sounds of fanaticism will be hushed; the ghastly spectres of Secession and Disunion will disappear; and the enemies of united constitutional liberty, if their hatred cannot be appeased, may prepare to have their eyeballs seared as they behold the steady flight of the American eagle, on his burnished wings, for years and years to come.

Public Research Syndicated 1985

A note from the publisher

Having been in town about nine months, I was beginning to feel pretty acclimated. That is, until last week.

All of a sudden, there were all sorts of new faces on the streets. And the people behind the faces were dressed somehow differently. More preppy? More urbane?

The other remarkable feature about the people walking the streets is that they had name tags. I felt as if I should have one myself, because it seemed I didn't know a soul in town.

Finding a parking space became a real challenge, especially on Church Street in the vicinity of Gould Academy.

Restaurants were more crowded than usual, and innkeepers were happily reporting that they were having to turn away potential guests. Hugh and Lin Chapman and sons had their hands full keeping up scooping ice cream cones. I suppose long-time residents of town were prepared for the influx of summer visitors associated with NTL (National Training Laboratories), since they've been coming since 1947, but for me it was quite a shock.

And when I asked NTL staffers for numbers, my shock was even greater. About 1,200 people will come to Bethel this summer to take courses of one-week or longer. I was told. And there will be a total of 120 training staff to conduct the sessions. There are also 19 administrative types in town to keep things going smoothly.

That's a lot of people for a town of 2,400 souls to absorb. But, of course, they're not here all at one time.

The other thing I learned last week was that NTL isn't as far out as some of the rumors would have one believe. Nor is it as intimidating as I thought it would be. In fact, it is not at all far out and not at all intimidating.

I learned this from participating in a weekend self-awareness and group dynamics workshop put on for the SAD #44 Adult Education Department by NTL staffers Charlie and Edie Seashore at their home on Broad Street.

I wouldn't have signed up if I had not been pushed to do so. Adult Ed director Cathy Newell did the pushing, and I'm glad she did. My neighbor, Melinda Remington, also signed up, and she was also scared about having done so.

All of us who sat in a circle in the Seashores' living room last Friday night were scared. Some masked it by talking aloud; some shifted in their seats; some held onto their seats; and some held on to themselves—arms crossed, legs crossed. (I think I was one of the latter.)

By Saturday afternoon, when it was all over, we were bantering back and forth good-naturedly—no longer having to play games of hide and seek. This was the observation of Carolyn Holden, and it was absolutely accurate.

Carolyn and I were members of a sub-group organized out of the larger group of 19 participants. Also in our sub-group were Chris Otten, Maureen Swain, Dan Hart and Rodney Lynch.

What brought us together into this sub-group was our pattern of decision-making, which was revealed to us through a personality profile we completed. We were the "organized decision-makers."

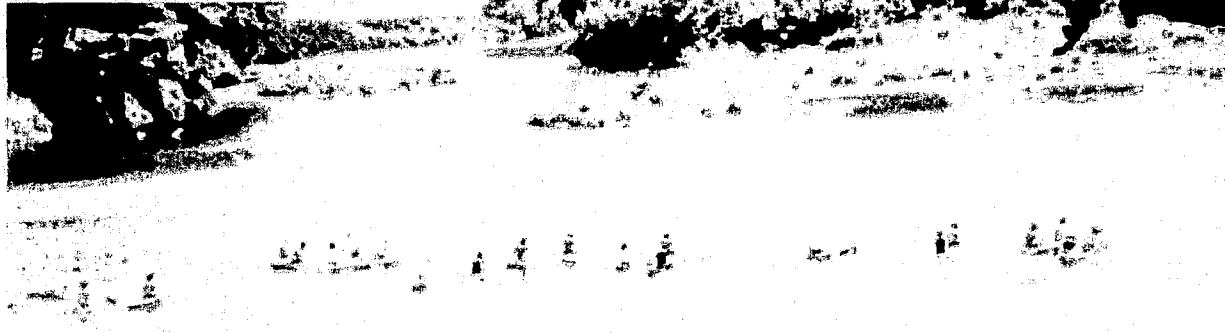

There were other sub-groups: "creative scientists," "nurturers," "dreamers"—and when we set about to solve a problem given us, each sub-group tackled the problem differently. Fascinating!

There were other exercises we did: ways of revealing ourselves; ways of getting to know others; ways of establishing leadership in groups; ways of saying goodbye, and ways of saying hello.

And every exercise was accomplished without people getting emotionally hurt. That was one of the things we learned: to care for one another.

And we did. The exercises sought to focus on differences, rather than mask over conflicts. And then the differences would be discussed and understood. Understanding why some one or some group was different made it easier to accept that person or that group.

Primary to all the tasks given us was the establishing of a sense of trust among

SETTING OFF DOWNSTREAM: Some 30 canoeists from all over New England took part in the sixth annual Androscoggin River Canoe Race Sunday, organized by Tim Carter, of Bethel. The racers started at Twin Oaks Campground in Bethel and finished 18 miles downstream, at Ferry Farm, in Rumford Center. Finishing second in the Recreation Canoe I category was Bethel native Rachel McKnight, and her husband, Ted. Finishing third in that category were Bethel paddlers Howard and Michael Crockett. In Women's Pairs, Jane Chandler, of West Paris, and Jody Carter, of Bethel, took second place.

Nobody's Business

As much as at any other time of the year, as we approach the Fourth of July we should take note of the benefits of living in the United States.

Two hundred and nine years ago the "colonies" declared their independence from England. That declaration was affirmed by the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown in 1781.

Internal problems vexed the new nation early in its existence as individual colonies (states) were hesitant about surrendering sovereignty to a central government. The initial Articles of Confederation proved unworkable in practice and were replaced in the late 1780s by the Constitution of the United States.

Under the constitution, with its amendments, and a myriad of interpretations by the courts, the nation has survived. The foundations of the republic were shaken by the Civil War, but it endured.

On this July 4th let us be proud, that we live in a country which possesses in a greater degree than the great majority of the nations on this planet the four freedoms enunciated by President Franklin Roosevelt in 1941: freedom of speech and expression, freedom to worship God in our own way, freedom from want, and freedom from fear.

To enjoy these freedoms we sometimes have to put up with a lot of nonsense. As Justice Robert Jackson once said, "The price of freedom of religion or of speech or of the press is that we must put up with, and even pay for, a good deal of rubbish."

To our sister nations of the world who constantly pay lip-service to the cause of human rights and democratic government we say, "We have had it for 209 years and it works reasonably well, why don't you try it." jkb the participants, and this was accomplished by the firm but gentle leadership of the Seashores.

Thinking back on how much we accomplished in one night and one day, I wonder why legislative bodies—even the United Nations—can't learn to work together.

Maybe they should try a week at NTL. And if you yourself want to discover some of your own potential for getting along better with your fellow citizens, you might also consider taking advantage of one of the two-day NTL workshops offered through Adult Ed.

Cathy Newell says there will likely be more sessions offered during the summer. Call her if you're interested. It probably won't change your life, but it will certainly give you some new insights into yourself and into how people relate to one another and how people react in group situations. And, if you're like those of us who participated in the recent session, you'll meet some nice people—your neighbors.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It is becoming increasingly obvious that there is a desire on the part of some in the U.S. Government to deepen our involvement in Central America. We are supporting armed forces against the Nicaraguan government and some want to send in U.S. troops. We believe that this course is wrong because of the suffering it inflicts on the Nicaraguans and what it does to the standing of our own government in Latin America and in the Free World.

To counter this and to work for peace a veterans' group, "Veterans for Peace" has begun to meet and to raise our voices for peace. Because each of us has been involved in war we believe that we have something special to say for peace. As veterans we seek not to glorify war but to work for peace. We are committed to non-violence and to a democratically run organization. We welcome other veterans in Maine who share this goal to join with us.

To the Editor:

I was listening to the Donahue show the other day on the subject of a separate school for the homosexuals, and it made me think of a humorous story about an elderly man who decided to emigrate to Australia because he said, the growth of homosexuality frightened him. He recalled as a boy how he had heard it was punishable by hanging, he knew as he grew older that the punishment had been reduced to flogging.

Forty years ago it had been further reduced to imprisonment, 30 years ago to a fine, and now that it was no longer illegal. He wished to leave the country before it was made compulsory....

A rainy and raw week. Two of our robins have flown (Frank took a ladder and found four birds); one fell out of the nest into a puddle and was brought in the house to get dried and warmed and the other was still in the nest. Evelyn Hilborn watched the mother Phoebe call three of her babies out of the nest and even with the calling, the fourth wouldn't come so Mama Phoebe sat behind and pushed him out. Dad sat on the fence and watched until the babies were out and then all flew into the pines.

Richard and Doris Brown called on Leslie and Myrtle Lapham Wednesday. Leslie went to Rumford shopping and called on friends Thursday; in the evening Mr. and Mrs. William Helm of Andover called on the Laphams.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson Sr. had a great-grandson born in Augusta June 19, Justine Michael, nine pounds plus. His mother is Wendy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson Jr.

Thelma Merrill was also made a great-grandmother by the birth of a four pound, five ounce baby boy, Benjamin Paul, born to Mr. and Mrs. Jody Shimamura at Stephens Memorial Hospital June 21. Joe and Gerry Shimamura are grandparents. Thelma, Joe and Gerry went to see the baby June 21 and Becky Shaw went to see the baby June 24.

Sunday Sylvia Benson went to Hebron and had dinner with her sister, Judy Small and her children, Kim and Tim.

Gerry Shimamura took Betsy and Justin to Lewiston June 24 and on the way back they stopped to see the new baby and had dinner in Norway.

The Dennis Andre family spent a week in Massachusetts. They divided time staying with her mother, Jean Dunn, and with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andre.

Mrs. Andre's brother, Bob Dunn, was on leave from the U.S. Navy and came to Maine for a short visit when they came home. This was Bob's first visit to Maine.

Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Shaw went to Quebec City for Rotary International Thursday to Sunday. Becky Sue Davis stayed with the twins.

James and Jo Monahan also went to Quebec City to Rotary International.

Frank and Sid Murphy went to the safety awards for Pike Industry at Acutney, Vt. They left Saturday morning and spent the night there. They came home Sunday afternoon.

Albert and Verna Packard of Bridgton visited George and Betty Gilbert Sunday.

Evelyn Hilborn spent two weeks at her home in Toronto, Can. She visited Ellen Tuck and celebrated her birthday June 11. They also celebrated Ellen's sister and husband's 50th wedding anniversary.

While there she spent a weekend with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davis in Hamilton, spent some time with a cousin, Evelyn, also visited numerous other friends around Toronto.

She did a lot of gardening for her cousin and at her home.

Tuesday Evelyn Hilborn, Frances Farnum, Louie Coffin and Bertha Flanders went to Damariscotta to celebrate Bertha's birthday. They had a lovely luncheon and also visited Ocean Point which is near Boothbay Harbor.

The strawberries are coming along and people would like to pick, but have not had very good weather. Miss being able to run out and get some right out of the garden, but don't miss the work.

BETHEL'S NEW GRADER is built like a tank, and road foreman Bob Davis (on wheel) is looking forward to getting it out on the roads. For winter work, the $83,000 Galion machine has a plow and a wing-behind Selectman Arlan Jodrey and Town Manager Rodney Lynch, who were on hand to welcome the machine when it arrived last Friday. The town's 1958 Caterpillar was sent off to the dealer in trade as soon as the Galion arrived. The town was allowed $5,000 on it.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Moore are here for the summer.

Bob Cope and friend Daniel are at their home at Cushman Pond.

Neal, Linda and Scottie Allen took Iva Fox and Ada Malia on a picnic at the Narrows.

Leroy and Pauline Smith were shopping in Fryeburg Monday. There was a bad shower with hailstones as large as moth balls.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Woodward and Teresa. They went to Jim's and family. Understand they went to "Return of Oz" and came back Sunday afternoon. Ira came home Saturday after work and stayed until Sunday afternoon.

Frankie and I went to visit my folks, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Wednesday and had dinner. Dad was up and am always glad when he feels up to getting out of bed.

Got my car back Thursday noon, so had to go into town in the afternoon to run errands.

Success

Success is speaking words of praise, In cheering other people's ways, In doing just the best you can, With every task and every plan.

It's silence when your speech would hurt, Politeness when your neighbor's hurt, It's deafness when the scandal flows, And sympathy with others' woes,

It's loyalty when duty calls, It's courage when disaster falls, It's patience when the hours are long, It's found in laughter and in song,

It's the silent time of prayer, In happiness and in despair, In all of life and nothing less, We find the thing we call success.

June. I can scarcely believe we are nearing the end of it. The days have slipped by without my being aware of the passage of time.

Each day is different. We have had good days and bad, as far as weather goes. There have been several visits by the moose to the weeds across the pond. My chipmunks circle my feet or follow me like a puppy when I go outside for very long—begging. I have fed from my hand each year that I have lived here and held them in my lap. Their tiny feet rested on my fingers. So cute, as they ate their seeds. BUT this week one of them gave me a surprise! He bit my finger!

We are definitely in the luxuriance of summer. We are aware of each bird and keep abreast of the season. It is worth while to wake early during these days because of the dawn-chorus. There are the teasing notes, the bellnotes, the sawing notes. Then of course there is the loud beauty of the thrushes. Poets have lauded the song of the Hermit Thrush above all other American birds. "It sings more of the glory of life and less of its tragedy, more of the joy of heaven and less of the passion of earth. Their songs are projected upon the still air in tones, solemn and serene, and harmonize with the sounds of the forest." We appreciate them now for when October comes with its clear, crisp, exhilarating weather, when fading leaves begin their brief flights through space, and squirrels scurry about garnering acorns and other delicacies on which to nibble during the long winter months, the thrushes will slip silently away.

One dark night long before the dawn-chorus, near midnight, it wasn't the thrush that I heard but three hoots then a gurgle, gurgle, gurgle from a high note to a low note. Before I was fully awake I thought it was the whistle of a train then the spinning of wheels as it tried to make the grade on a wet track, the same as I used to hear when I was a child and the night train went by my home. Awake, now, I listened more closely. It came again and again Who-who-who then that spinning sound. I knew then that it was a young owl out on a hooting time. We often hear them from across the pond but not by our window.

Flower scents are everywhere. The air is full of the cries of the leaves and grass. In the distance the hills are misty blue. Hello, Summer!

July 4 marks the birthday of the United States of America and we owe it to our nation and to ourselves to pause a few minutes and think of what it means and how fortunate we are to be living here. We should look back and reflect on the good and bad times those years have brought. Our nation has known much of both.

Because I was born and grew up in a small town I have a special nostalgia for this day. We were given what firecrackers and noisemakers Dad could afford. So on the morning of the Fourth we were up early hoping to be the first to send thunder through the valley.

I'm sure we didn't give deep thought to the meaning of the day but somewhere over the years, since, that meaning has grown.

Now is a time to renew our "Pledge of Allegiance" to our flag and country; to show our love and appreciation of freedom which was won at a great cost by the founders.

Each will celebrate in some way, to show our respect for this great nation. Fly your flag to let the world know that we are still free, and proud to remember the birthday of our country.

The Fourth of July

The Fourth of July is upon us. Yes, it has rolled around again

Although it's celebrated differently I still like to remember when— Sometime after midnight

We'd hear the cannons roar And maybe an old wagon wheel Would barricade ones front door.

The older boys in our small town Would produce the usual feat To secure, and move "Someone's outhouse"

Onto the middle of the village street.

I remember the all night dances From eight o'clock 'till dawn We'd catch a few winks—till parade time

Then we'd be up and gone. As the menu was wild strawberry shortcake

Fresh peas and salmon too, It was a ritual for July the 4th Nothing else would ever do! Then fireworks would light the even ing sky

The plastic party at the Greenwood Fire Station was well attended. The Auxiliary appreciates the support given it. There is another fundraiser coming up which will feature a weekend at Littlefield Beaches. Keep on the lookout for it if you'd like a free camping weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Bayless, Pennington, N.J., are at the Case cottage on Twitchell Pond for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mills and Vivian Chase attended a meeting Monday evening of Women's Aglow in Shelburne, N.H. Stan Seames came home from Stephens Memorial Hospital Friday after spending a week as a patient there.

Marie York, Burnt Hills, N.Y., visited her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lee

To end a glorious day.

As I write this June 26, the fog that greeted us early this morning has lifted and the sun is just coming over Noyes Mountain to rest upon my azalea bush. It's a gorgeous thing in its frills of orange and as sweet as it is pretty. But it doesn't attract the attention that the moose have this past week. Late Sunday afternoon two cow moose were just across the pond from here. After their half hour visit and many roadside visitors; a bull moose came ambling in but the cows had gone. Such homely but powerful creatures. They find plenty to eat.

The Hayes Homestead is again quiet after a weekend of interesting festivities. There was a gathering of 23 to enjoy a "fish fry" at one time and a "lobster feed" at another. There was music and singing. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lacroix and daughter Susanne, Derry Churchhill and daughter, April, left very early on Monday morning to go to Greenville to go rafting before their return to Minnesota. The Spire family left later for New Hampshire.

Fred Curtis and several members of the family were in Jackman on a fishing trip for a few days.

It is nice to see lights at the Milton Inman cottage again for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin French of Harlingen, Texas, called on Frank and Dot Curtis and on us over the weekend.

Evelyn Heikkinen, Mexico, stayed with her mother, Lena Curtis, while the family was away.

Zilpha DiArenzo reports an enjoyable trip they took on Tuesday to Upton, Errol, and the 13 mile woods with friends.

There was a large gathering on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Tammen to celebrate his birthday. They enjoyed a potluck dinner.

Bernard Morgan returned to Stephens Memorial Hospital on Thursday morning, June 27.

Mills, one day last week. She brought her aunt, Alice Mundt, to Maine to visit and both have been seeing relatives in the area.

It has been a rather interesting week nature-wise. I have a lobster cactus that had one bloom come out midst the growth of new leaves; usually it blooms in the fall. We were visiting Pat and Ersel Murphy in Bethel last Sunday evening and as we pulled into their drive, a deer stood at the end of it. She looked at us and we at her for several seconds before she turned and walked away. And as Jean Grover and I were going to Runford Tuesday evening we saw a mother partridge with six or so babies standing near the edge of the highway. The babies were picking up bugs along the grassy strip. The mother looked as if she'd like to cross the road, but she must have thought better of it because there were no bodies when we made the return trip.

Ruth Dunham and her sister, Beatrice Farnum, Bryant Pond, were dinner guests of Charlotte Cole Tuesday. She took them to West Paris to see Arlene Stiles at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Mason Jr., Curtis Hill, on the return trip home.

The Greenwood Fire Department and Auxiliary and the West Paris Fire Department and Auxiliary enjoyed a supper together Tuesday evening at the Greenwood Fire Station.

Miss Valerie Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cole, is working at Cape Cod for the summer.

Mrs. Blanche Bennett, Freeport, is camping on Charlotte Cole's camp lot at Twitchell Pond. Her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ring, also of Freeport, are spending two weeks in Elwin Cole's trailer near Twitchell Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mills visited Rev. and Mrs. Lyle Van Horn and boys at their home in Mexico Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Libby and family returned home to Bangor Friday after spending nearly a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Cole.

Cindy and Joe Gross, Kelly and Troy had to cut their stay in the Allagash region short because of bad weather. This has been a poor week to have a vacation, especially a camping one.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall Jr., South Carolina, arrived Saturday for a weeks visit with his mother and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cole.

Callers at the home of Charlotte Cole were Mary Stone Thursday and Mrs. Pierrette Murphy and Dot Russo, who were supper guests Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mills and Mrs. Ann Roy were among those attending a cookout for Teen Challenge at the Gospel Center last Saturday evening. There was a good turnout and all enjoyed a singingspiration afterwards with Rudy Royer accompanying the group on the guitar.

The Ekco Wood Products plant will resume operation on Tuesday, July 9, following a two week vacation period.

Mrs. Pearl Peaslee arrived home Wednesday after attending her oldest great-grandson's graduation at Kentridge High School in Kent, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Davis (nee Ida Peaslee) of Rumford also attended the graduation, he being their oldest grandson.

On June 22, the Andover High School Alumni Association held its annual banquet and ball at the town hall. Phillip Abbott, Class of 1954, was toastmaster. The class of 1955 was honored with only three of its original members present: Cecilia Sweat Adams, Glastonbury, Conn.; Marguerite Campbell Emerson and Harold Falkenham. Mrs. Adams spoke for the class. Ivy Thurston of the class of 1918 spoke. She was the oldest graduate present. Florence Hall of the class of 1929 also spoke. After the banquet, a short business meeting was held with the election of officers for the next two years. They are: president, Sharon Coolidge Hutchins; vice president, Doris Feener French; treasurer, Carolyn Summons Merrich; secretary, Charlotte Coolidge Hutchins; and corresponding secretary, David Hutchins. Prizes were awarded by the Friday Club for English and the alumni for highest in math. The Walter Fox books were also awarded, the East Andover Community Club award, plus others. After the business meeting, they adjourned to the upper hall for dancing.

Mrs. Ruth Wentworth of Albion has been spending a few days visiting her sister, Mrs. Eva Bodwell. Mrs. Edna Hilton of Kittery has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Grace Simmons, Mrs. Ismay Mechem and Mrs. Agnes Forter and attended the alumni banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Nuppula of Owls Head visited with Mrs. Marie Lang and Dorothy on Wednesday and had supper. Edith Robinson of Augusta spent the weekend with Marie and Dot Lang and attended the alumni banquet.

Greeters at the First Congregational Church on Sunday, June 23, were the Morton twins, Val and Xandy. Rev. Churchill's sermon topic was "What to do With Your Garbage." Greeters on June 30 were Polly and Dick Johnston. Rev. Churchill has left for a month of study at the School of Theology in Sewanee, Tenn. 37375.

Saturday, June 29, a public supper was held at the C.E.B.

Don't forget Saturday, Aug. 3 is Olde Home Day. Make plans now as time flies and it'll soon be here.

Mrs. Rex Thurston and sons, Danny, Jon and Kurt, and her mother, Mrs. Walter Jodrey spent the weekend in Manchester, N.H., visiting her sister, Mrs. Francis Humphrey and children.

Elderwood Manor Items
Florence Hall attended the alumni banquet. Many of the mothers and fathers of the graduates she taught years ago. Georgie Fraser returned home on Wednesday from the Rumford Community Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Nuppula of Owls Head visited Florence Hall on Wednesday.

Mrs. Louise Powell visited her mother, Mrs. Alma Hewey one day this week.

Mrs. Ann Fox has been visiting her son, Mr. and Mrs. John Fox in Waterville recently.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sennett returned on Sunday after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Conrad Hayes, in Waldoboro.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sennett, Mrs. Bernice Glover and Mrs. Conrad Hayes visited Mrs. Arvilla Feener on Monday. Calvary Congregational Church.

Pastor Donald Grover's message last Sunday was "What All Sinners Must Do", taken from Acts 2:38-47 and Second Romans 10:13. A letter was read from Child Evangelism in Chile about disaster of earthquakes and home destruction. The quarterly business meeting will be July 10 at 7:30 p.m. Sunday evening service is at 7 o'clock and the study is Genesis.

The nightly vacation Bible school closed on Friday, June 21. It was a fantastic week, with an average of 53 in attendance.

The missionary was Thelma Ricker of Vermont. She has been a rural Bible Teacher, Rumney, N.H., Bible camp teacher and now is a child evangelism fellowship teacher. She also teaches adults how to teach Good News Clubs. She is extremely active and it was a great pleasure to have her at Bible school for the week.

Also thanks go to all the willing workers: pre-school teachers, Barbie Bailey, Janice Hill and Norma Farrington; beginners, Rosemary Roberts; primaries, Marge Stinson; junior and high school ages, Thelma Ricker; adults, Pastor Grover; craft teacher, Barbara Meisner with helpers, Alice Cox and Norma Farrington; song leader, Carol Stuart; pianist, Judy Bailey; refreshments, Glenna Allen; and director, Helen Grover.

Theme of the school was "God is in Control", and the Book of Esther was taught. For those who did not attend, you truly missed a blessing.

Bethel

By LINDA CARON

There hasn't been much news coming my way recently. I keep hearing folks say it's nice having a Bethel column, but as I've said before, very few people call me with their news. The Caron family isn't the only one in Bethel with newsworthy items. As much as I enjoy writing about Jaime and our adventures through childhood, I need feedback. One of these days I could get "writer's block" (as I sometimes do) and then where would that leave the Bethel column? I'm not about to hound people with phone calls every week. I respect the privacy of others as I hope people respect mine. I don't have a "grapevine"—contrary to what a lot of folks think. So, how about it, Bethel? Do you like the column enough to call me once in awhile? As a friend of mine once said, "familiarity breeds contempt" (and he found out first hand, which is why he's lying low). I'm sure you folks must be getting tired of reading about the Caron Nut House.

Mrs. Alfred Brown was pleasantly surprised recently at a family birthday dinner at the Bennett Camp on South Pond. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett, Leslie and Jason of Northfield, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Peter Howard, Jill and Debra from Bridgton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bennett, Julia Brown and Leona Flint.

Albert Grover and family of Windsor, Conn., were guests of his mother, Mrs. Bea Grover, Saturday, June 15. Mrs. Grover celebrated her 83rd birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Buell, Benton, Kentucky, were recent visitors of Mrs. Eva Buckman.

Never let it be said that Water Department folks don't have a sense of humor! This week the meter reader told me he was ready for me if I had called our, "Who is it?" when he rang the bell... "Larry Galin" would have been his reply! Cute, Donny, real cute.

Our Lady of the Snows Church recently held its annual CCD Staff and Parish Council dinner at Town and Country in Shelburne, N.H. Those attending were Father Bourke, Tom and Peg Wheeler, Bill and Bernice Caddigan and baby Katie, (what a cutie!), Sheila Otero-Tripp, Connie Blanchard, Sheila Otero-Otero, Kay McMillin, Dennis and Gema Dreher, Cheryl Elliot, John and Linda Caron and Jaime. Jaime took quite a shine to Katie and by the time dinner was over, she was sitting on Bernice's lap playing with the baby! Everyone had a good time and delicious food to Karen Wheeler this week. She's been visited by those nasty chicken pox!

Jaime finally had her visit with our friend Spike. They had a very friendly and lively conversation and by evening's end there was a kiss and a "bye-bye" 'til next time... which won't be years away, will it, Spike?

What nasty weather we've had! Such a cold and wet June. Not very conducive to growing things. I bet there are more than a few mothers ready to ship their kids out on the next boat. One thing I know for certain, Chief is NOT responsible for this rain. He has not done his rain dance in the last few weeks!

There's a holiday coming up and I want all of you to remember to have a safe one. Don't drink and drive... I need all the readers I can get! With the 4th just around the corner, I went digging for some appropriate quotes and as luck would have it, I couldn't decide between two I really felt conveyed the meaning of the 4th of July. So I'll just have to use both—

"America is not like a blanket—one piece of unbroken cloth. America is more like a quilt—many patches, many pieces, many colors, many sizes, all woven together by a common thread."—Rev. Jesse L. Jackson

"History has placed us all, black and white, within a common border and under a common law. All of us, from the wealthiest and most powerful of men to the weakest and hungriest of children, share one precious possession: the name American. It is not easy to know what that means; but in part to be an American means to have been an outcast and a stranger, to have come to the exile's country, and to know that he who denies the outcast and stranger among us at that moment also denies America."—Robert F. Kennedy

With all its faults and with all its problems, there is still no place I'd rather be. Happy Birthday, my America.

West Paris

By JUDY McLAUGHLIN

Allen and Myrna Lamb, Amber and Aaron, Middletown, Conn., spent a few days in West Paris last week. The McLaughlins hosted a barbecue birthday party on Sunday to celebrate Amber's fifth birthday. Attending were Brian and Faye Hill, Jeremy, Dawson, Brandon and Briana, Electa Hill, Newton Lamb, Kenne Lamb, Sandy and Tina, Chris and Lisa Russell, Mike and Judy McLaughlin, Nina, Kyra and Kelly, Allen and Myrna Lamb, Amber and Aaron. Thundershowers held off through the barbecue and home made ice cream and Amber rode back to her grandpa's house with lightning bugs blinking inside the car.

Bob and Cindy Kirchherr took a vacation trip to southern California and Arizona, visiting such sites as the Grand Canyon and Death Valley.

Avis Ellingwood spent a few days in the hospital last week, but is back on her feet and once again working at the library.

The Eleanor B. Forbes Goodwill Group will meet at Martha Day's home on July 9 to fix cans for Christmas, for shut-ins. Martha Day and Virginia Hyam are on the dinner committee.

The girls softball team won a dramatic game against Norway last Monday, making a spectacular triple play to end the game with a score of 14 to 18. Kyra McLaughlin jumped and caught a ball hit over her head; the batter ran to first and the two base runners advanced. Responding to screams from her coach and spectators, Kyra threw the ball to second base player, Joanne Hayes; accompanied by more screams, Joanne threw the ball to Kelly McLaughlin who, singling out her coach's voice, decided she had better, for reasons unknown, tag first base, which she did, ending the game. Even those able to follow the play laughed and cheered in amazement!

East Bethel

By MYRA FOSTER

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bartlett of Hopkinton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. James Bartlett of Framingham, Mass., visited at the Bartlett homestead June 23.

Mrs. Lillian Bartlett, Mrs. Floribel Haines and Mrs. Mad Danforth went to Rumford on the minibus.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stearns of Rumford Corner visited me last Thursday and brought me a flat of strawberries. Dick also got me some wood. Mr. and Mrs. John Foster of Andover also visited me Thursday for an hour or so. Mrs. Foster is feeling some better after coming home from the hospital last Friday.

Mrs. Jo Tyler, Dixfield; Mrs. Gina Kader, Mexico; Mrs. Marge Murphy, East Peru; and Mrs. Myra Foster enjoyed the play "Annie Get Your Gun" at the Brunswick Music Theater on June 23. They had lunch and dinner in Lewiston. If you haven't had a baked stuffed potato with broccoli and cheese sauce, you should try it sometime. It is scrumptious!

I forgot to put in that on June 8, Mrs. Jo Tyler took myself, Mrs. Betty Swan and Mrs. Marge Murphy to Augusta to visit the museum. There were also four other ladies of the Ladies Club of East Dixfield Common Church that went in another car. We sure enjoyed that trip, but we didn't see all the fish in the aquarium as that part wasn't open on Saturday. So you see I'm still gadding about, which I enjoy very much.

West Bethel

By HARRIET STOWELL

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walker returned home on Monday after spending a few days visiting their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walker Jr., Norwich, Conn. Andrew Stowell and family of Jackman arrived at the home of his parents Friday evening to spend the week of July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wild of Alaska visited with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walker, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lovejoy have returned to their home in Traverse City, Mich., after spending two weeks visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kimball Jr. (Sonny) of Texas called on Cleveland Lovejoy last week. Sonny grew up on the Flat Road in West Bethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Westleigh were hosts on Saturday and Sunday, June 22 and 23 to an old fashioned "roof-raising." About a dozen adults and numerous youngsters were in attendance and the food was plentiful. Joe and Shirley have created a second story on their home.

Cleve and Cathryn Lovejoy entertained a group of 14 at a "fish-fry" at their home. Among others were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kneeland of Manchester, N.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stowell of Leesburg, Va., came Thursday to spend a couple of weeks visiting relatives. They will stay at Songo Pond in the David and Sara Head camp.

TRI-TOWN RESCUE ACCEPTS THE CHALLENGE
Tri-Town Rescue accepts the challenge.

The Bethel Area Health Center has challenged Bethel Rescue and Tri-Town to a gurney race at 1 p.m. on Saturday, July 20, in Bethel as part of the Mollycoddle Day observance. Details of the nurses' race have not yet been made available, but Tri-Town attendants feel up to any task the Health Center will incorporate into the race. They are hoping the BEARS and BAHG teams are ready to be left behind, as the Tri-Town team races past on a stretcher down Broad Street.

Anyone up for a poor race, because the other teams don't stand a chance, should come to Broad Street that Saturday to see Tri-Town victorious.

Notes from Woodstock Historical Society

There are many places to go in Maine of particular historical interest. We can name only a few, but these will give some ideas.

Consider Portland, for instance. There is the Longfellow House with its homey atmosphere, and the Victorian Mansion, elaborate, ornate, and very elegant. Then there is the McLellan-Sweatt Mansion with its exceptionally fine collection of furnishings and the Tate House, more Spartan but still a remarkable historic landmark. And don't forget the Portland Museum of Art and the Old Port.

In Rockland, one may visit the Farnsworth Museum with the Victorian collection and the Andrew Wyeths next door. Elsewhere along the coast is the Bath Marine Museum which conveys the Maritime splendor of Maine years ago.

The Norlands in Livermore is a grand example of a working Museum. And its history is the best part of the tour—a family of sons who grew up into a political dynasty.

Nearer home, one should not overlook Paris Hill with its sumptuous homes, the Moses Mason House in Bethel, or own Woodstock Museum.

Elsewhere there are innumerable old forts and homes open for public tours. In fact, Maine is becoming a Mecca for the traveler in search of points of historic interest. Your horizons will be broadened immeasurably.

Donations to the museum recently have come from Spike Noyes, Francis Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burnham, and Kay McAllister.

Quite a few visitors have already come to the museum. Remember, hours are 1-4 p.m. Saturday.

MIDDLE INTERVAL MEETING HOUSE TO HAVE GUEST SPEAKER JULY 8

After a brief business meeting, the floor will be turned over to Randy Bennett who is presently curator of collections at the Bethel Historical Society.

Mr. Bennett will speak about meeting houses and churches of Oxford County and then conduct a tour through time, focusing on the many faces that the Middle Intervale Meeting House presented to the residents of the Bethel area. He has been engaged in extensive research on Historic Architecture in Maine and has just completed a book on the subject entitled, "Oxford County Guide to Historic Architecture." The book is presently at the publishers and will be available in the fall.

The Society considers itself fortunate in securing Mr. Bennett for this meeting, which will take place at the Meeting House on Monday, July 8 at 7 p.m.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone, especially any visitors to the area, to come share a moment in history. Anyone requiring directions to the Meeting House may call 824-2058.

BETHEL LIBRARY SEEKS BOOKS FOR ANNUAL MOLLYCOKETT DAY SALE

Mollycoddle Day is fast approaching—Saturday, July 20, to be exact.

MRS. STELLA M. MOORE

Mrs. Stella M. Moore of Bethel died Thursday night, June 27, 1985, at the Ledgewood Memorial Home, West Paris, where she had been a patient since August of 1979.

She was born in Greenwood on April 19, 1886, the daughter of Ziba and Ida Stowell Durkee. Educated in the Bethel schools, she was a member of this community most of her life. She married Ralph L. Moore, who passed away on July 1, 1961. Mrs. Moore was a charter member of the Bethel Senior Citizens, a member of the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel and the Ladies Club of the church. She was also a Gold Star Mother.

Survivors include two sisters, Lena Burgess of Derry, N.H., and Beth Ellis of New Mexico, and several nieces and nephews. A son, Robert L. Moore, died Oct. 2, 1944, at Shirley, Mass., while serving in the U.S. Army.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Greenleaf funeral home. Interment was at Riverside Cemetery, Bethel.

MRS. JEANNETTE I. CARINI

Mrs. Jeannette I. Carini of Bryant Pond died Wednesday night, June 26, 1985, at the Ledgewood Memorial Home in West Paris, following a long period of ill health.

She was born Oct. 8, 1899 at Brooklyn, N.Y., the daughter of Jones and Ida Smith Gessner. She was educated in schools at Deep River, Conn. She was a homemaker and also worked for Bessie Mann Clifford of South Paris as a housekeeper for many years. Mrs. Carini came to Bryant Pond in 1948 and lived in the community until failing health forced her to be cared for at extended care facilities. She had been a patient at Ledgewood Memorial Home for the past five years. She was a member of Bryant Pond Baptist Church and a former member of the Bryant Pond Grange.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Floyd (Doris) Manville of Killingsworth, Conn., Mrs. Wallace (Marilyn) Morgan of West Paris and Mrs. Jane (Jeanne) Blanchard of Bryant Pond; one son, Donald Carini of Portland; 10 grandchildren and six grandchildren.

Memorial services were held Saturday afternoon at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church with interment at the Fountain Hill Cemetery, Deep River, Conn.

ROBERT A. GRAHAM

Robert A. Graham died Wednesday, June 26, 1985, after a short illness at his residence in Andover, where he had lived since 1951.

He was born March 17, 1906, in Lynn, Mass., the son of Robert and Florence Adams Abraham. He attended schools and college in Lynn. He worked as a foreman in Lynn for many years for Boston Machine Works, until 1951 when he moved to Andover, where he worked for COMSAT until 1971. Mr. Graham stayed on at COMSAT as a security guard until his retirement in 1984. He was married in Lynn, July 11, 1931 to Ruth Packard.

Mr. Graham was a member of the Trinity Methodist Church of Lynn, a former member of the church baseball team and of the Live Oaks baseball team in West Lynn, and a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge in Lynn.

He is survived by his wife of Andover; a daughter, Mrs. Lois Farrington of Rochester, N.H.; a brother, Albert of Lynn, Mass.; 13 grandchildren, seven step great-grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, and nine step great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Meader and Son funeral home, Rumford, with Rev. Ronald Ashworth officiating. Interment was at the Woodlawn Cemetery, Andover.

DIED

In Andover, June 26, Robert A. Graham, aged 79 years.

In West Paris, June 26, Jeannette A. Carini of Bryant Pond, aged 85 years.

In West Paris, June 27, Stella M. Moore of Bethel, aged 89 years.

Westies stay #1 with Sunday win over O.B. Cannon, 5-2

The West Paris Westies, playing in Jay on Sunday, continued their winning ways with an 11-hit barrage, including three homers, against O.B. Cannon. The final tally was 5-2 versus the former league leaders.

The Westies, continuing in first place, with a 7-3 record, are being pressed by Rumford, at 7-4.

Nat Harris held O.B. Cannon to five hits. Hitting round-trippers for the Westies were Peter Blake, Dick Decato and Al Snow.

Errors hurt Brewers; bow to Cribbage Board

The Bethel Brewers held even with the league-leading Cribbage Board for five innings in softball action last Wednesday night in South Paris. But defensive lapses in the sixth inning let in seven Cribbage Board runs. The final score was 7-2.

The Cribbage Board is now 6-0, while the Brewers are in third place, with a 3-2 record. The local women next play Margo's, on July 10, at Oxford Hills Junior High School.

RETURNS — Spec. 4 Jeff Morgan, son of Olin and Florence Morgan of Bethel, has returned to Germany after spending a short leave with his family. He has recently received an award for Soldier of the Month. Jeff is serving with the 79th Eng. Battalion, U.S. Army, and is stationed in Karlsruhe, Germany.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Maude E. Harrington wishes to extend their sincere thank you to the many friends and neighbors whose support and words of comfort at such a stressful time were so reassuring. For the cards, flowers, food and donations given in her memory we all shall be ever grateful.

It is with special recognition we thank the Bethel Ambulance attendants, Stephens Memorial Hospital, Dr. Medd, Greenleaf Funeral Home, Arthur Cummings, Albert Raymond, Boy Scout Troop #565 and their committee, Cub Scout Pack #566, Dale Thurston, Rev. Guy L. Downing, friends and neighbors.

HOWE NAMED TRUSTEE OF MAINE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Stanley R. Howe of Bethel, Director of the Bethel Historical Society, was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Maine Historical Society at the 163rd annual meeting held on June 22 in Livermore at the Norlands, home of the illustrious Washburn family. The Maine Historical Society, founded in 1822, is one of the nation's oldest state historical societies and maintains its headquarters in Portland.

Dr. Howe, a Bethel native, is a graduate of Gould Academy and the University of Southern Maine. He received his M.A. in American history from the University of Connecticut and Ph.D. in Canadian history from the University of Maine at Orono. Very active in the Bethel community, Dr. Howe is well-known professionally throughout the state, serving as a trustee of the Maine League of Historical Societies and Museums, as an advisory trustee for Maine Citizens for Historic Preservation and as president of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies.

A frequent contributor to popular and scholarly periodicals on Canadian and local history subjects, he also has served since 1976 as editor of The Bethel Courier, quarterly publication of the Bethel Historical Society. He has taught history at several campuses of the University of Maine and Westbrook College. A member of a large number of professional organizations, he has been director of the Bethel Historical Society since 1974. He was selected as the Gould Academy Alumnus of the Year in 1982 and is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, the history honor society.

Local woman honored at Legion convention

Members of the Mundt-Allen American Legion Post #81 and Auxiliary who attended the annual convention in Bangor, June 21-23, were pleased to report that a member of the Bethel Unit was honored as Auxiliary Woman of the Year.

Abigail Buswell was presented by Unit #81 for her humanitarian concerns and for her dedication and devotion to her family and community. She was honored during Department convention and will be the candidate from Maine entered in the national convention contest in New Orleans in August.

Lions searching for Princess Mollycockett

The Bethel Lions Club continues its annual search for a young lady to be honored as Princess Mollycockett during Mollycockett Day, Saturday, July 20.

Young ladies interested in being considered for the role of Princess Mollycockett should submit a short paragraph history, a recent photograph and a short essay stating why they would like to be chosen as Princess Mollycockett and what it means to them and to the community.

Those wishing to be princess must be at least 15 years old and not more than 18. The deadline for submitting entries is July 15. All entries should be submitted to Eldon S. Greenleaf, Box 314, Bethel, Me. 04217.

Princess Mollycockett will preside over Mollycockett Day festivities, such as the parade, the awarding of prizes, etc. Princess Mollycockett will be presented with a $75 U.S. savings bond by the Bethel Lions Club.

Strawberry Time: Members of the Strawberry Social Committee of the West Parish Congregational Church are busy preparing berries for this Saturday's strawberry festival. Ruth Wight and Mary Keniston, above, are two members of the committee. The social will feature shortcakes, pies, strawberry punch, strawberry ice cream sundaes, and whole berries. If you have a hankering for berries before Saturday, the Locke Mills Union Church holds their strawberry festival this Friday.

PROGRESS REPORT — WCBB

Roland Desjardins, engineer for WCBB, reports that most of the equipment for the transmitter project for the Bethel area has been received at WCBB in Lewiston, with the remainder, including the tower, expected by the first week of July. He has been working with power company and the telephone company to coordinate power line installation on the Bailey Road, and expects to have power installed by the end of July. Service from the transmitter should begin, on schedule, about the middle of August.
